Passengers From St. Paul.

St. Paul, Min., June 27.—[Special]—The following [illegible] here left to-day via the Northern Pacific, to [illegible] in Portland July 4: D. H. Talbot and friend, [illegible] Iowa, M. Crickett, Chicago; M. Spencer, [illegible] J. Jones, New York and C. F. Adams.

Adulterations in Tea Discovered.

[illegible] York, June 27.—Davies, tea appraiser, has [illegible] an inspection of a cargo of teas brought [illegible] by the Flintshire, and found that a [illegible] portion of it is grossly adulterated. He to-[illegible] his report to the collector, showing [illegible] rejected 3100 packages, which, if sold in [illegible] might have realized about $22,000. These [illegible] of greens of all colors, sizes and de[illegible] of which were mixed with sand [illegible] gravel; others were composed of ex[illegible] and all others being composed of [illegible] rolled into pellets. About 500 pack[illegible] Japan dust were also rejected, on the [illegible] color and admixture of mineral sub[illegible] to make the tea heavier in weight. [illegible] also brought to this country on board [illegible]. The collector and the appraiser of [illegible] Louis have forwarded to Davies sam[illegible] tea sent to this city by way of San [illegible] examination of which has clearly [illegible] the "stuff" was only wild leaves, indis[illegible] collected and dried and sent to this [illegible] palmed off as tea. This was intended [illegible] part of the country remote from the [illegible] and there disposed of as tea, regard[illegible] the fact whether or not it would injure the [illegible] Davies said this morning that the new [illegible] arriving overland, appeared to be of good [illegible]

Shabby Treatment.

[illegible], June 27.—[Special.]—The manner in [illegible] Continental Guards of New Orleans have [illegible] is just beginning to attract attention. [illegible] a detachment of the Seventy-first [illegible] went to New Orleans and re[illegible]. The Continental Guards [illegible], for the entertainment of the [illegible] $10,000. When the guards left [illegible] it was announced that they would be [illegible] Seventy-first while in this city. On [illegible] here, however, they were met at the [illegible] militiamen in undress uniform, and [illegible] to find their way to a hotel like any [illegible]. To-day the visiting command [illegible] small parties, and entirely unat[illegible] various places of interest. In con[illegible] a correspondent, the New Orleans [illegible] expressed some surprise at the failure [illegible] New Yorkers to notice their presence, [illegible] that it was all right.

[illegible] in Pennsylvania.

[illegible], June 27.—Heavy rains of the [illegible] and the bursting of a dam have caused [illegible] the Baltimore mines, and resi[illegible] are alarmed. [illegible] Liquor Licenses.

[illegible]—The final day for the col[illegible] and beer saloons, as[illegible] was postponed some time [illegible] till July 1, so that [illegible] these days to complete the [illegible] penalty. As soon as [illegible] of the law became [illegible] saloon-keepers began payment [illegible] in before night. To-day the [illegible], and the treasurer's office was [illegible] for dispatching business are [illegible] the total sum paid is slightly [illegible] total tax will be something over [illegible] men very generally are ac[illegible] display cards "This is a law[illegible]," and also post their certifi[illegible] to show that they are under the [illegible]. [illegible] Cadet from Ohio.

[illegible] June 27.—[Special.]—The examina[illegible] for admission has closed, and out [illegible] applied thirty-seven have been sent [illegible]. Among the latter is William Waite [illegible] district, Ohio. His alternate was John [illegible] from the same district. Both came to [illegible] after a thorough competitive examina[illegible]. Alexander has been examined as [illegible], and has passed most creditably. [illegible] on grammar. Alexander is a dark [illegible] a bright, intelligent countenance and [illegible]. His father was a slave and purchased [illegible]. A West Point officer says: "I do not [illegible] will be tabooed. I am satisfied he will [illegible], especially by the first class."

Dana Defends Whitelaw Reid.

[illegible], June 27.—[Special.]—Dana takes up the [illegible] in behalf of Whitelaw Reid, of the Tribune, [illegible] General Sherman, in a recent interview, [illegible] be a "treacherous cuss, who could write [illegible] to the other than any other news[illegible] in America. Dana says [illegible] like a blackguard, and that Reid [illegible] deserved to be berated in such wild [illegible].

The Troubles of Whisky Men.

[illegible], June 27.—It has been discovered that [illegible] ordinance passed by the city council to [illegible] escape from the Harper high license bill [illegible] of six months is of no effect, by reason of [illegible] that it grants licenses for six days longer [illegible] municipal year. A special meeting of the [illegible] will be held to-morrow evening to [illegible], if possible, but the [illegible] the assertion that the saloon-keepers will [illegible] once again to procure licenses.

Fifty Cents on the Dollar.

[illegible], June 27.—The creditors of M. S. Nichols [illegible] commission men on the board of trade [illegible] by the late failure of McGeoch, [illegible] & Co., held a meeting to-day. [illegible] the affairs of the firm, it was [illegible] able to pay about fifty cents on the dollar [illegible] creditors expressed indignation. Minnesota Republican Convention.

St. Paul, June 27.—The republican convention assembled at noon with C. D. Gilfillan as temporary chairman. Committees were appointed, and recess taken till evening.

On reassembling, C. D. Gilfillan was nominated permanent chairman, by the Hubbard faction, and J. S. Pillsbury by the Windomites. Gilfillan was chosen by a vote of 140 to 96.

Gov. Hubbard was renominated by acclamation.

A resolution was introduced condemning the action of those republican legislators who refused to vote for Windom for senator, after he had received the caucus nomination last winter. This was laid on the table by a vote of 148 to 90.

The platform approves the river and harbor bill and the re-enactment by congress of the arrears of pension claims.

The Would-Be Duelists.

Charleston, W. Va., June 27.—Beirne, one of the Richmond editors, was seen at Kanceport this morning, accompanied by his friends, and it is thought his hostile meeting with Elam is about to occur.

Washington, June 27.—It was reported at a late hour last night that Elam and Beirne, the Richmond duelists, were in this vicinity and would fight at sunrise this morning, within ten miles of this city. As nothing has been heard from the front, and the weather is stormy, it is presumed the encounter has been postponed.

The "Sun" on Rev. Tyng.

New York, June 27—[Special.]—The Sun says of Tyng's resignation, particulars of which were first printed in these dispatches: "It is queer, in view of Tyng's career, since he left the pulpit of the Holy Trinity, what necessity there exists for the president of the society to visit Paris twice in regard to the matter. The circumstances have created a wide sensation, as do all other stories concerning Tyng, and may lead to revelations of almost an incredible nature."

Boisterous College Men.

New Haven, June 27.—Just after midnight six college men, holding a jollification with cannon, crackers and Roman candles, on the college campus, refused to desist when ordered, and the police took them to the station house. E. P. Howe, a Boston lawyer, and a graduate twelve years ago, was severely clubbed by an officer. The city clerk gave bonds for the prisoners, who were fined $5 each and $1 42 costs.

The Bartholdi Statue.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—General Stone, engineer of the Bartholdi statue committee, said to a Herald reporter that there would not be the slightest difficulty in getting all the money for the pedestal from three or four individuals, but we want to make this a national affair. It is proposed that each man of the Grand Army of the Republic give a dime and school children one penny each. About $140,000 remain unsubscribed.

The Senatorial Contest.

Concord, N. H., June 27.—The ballot for United States senator at noon resulted as follows: Whole number 322, necessary to a choice 162; Gilman Marston 14, Aaron F. Stevens 14, James F. Briggs 38, James M. Patterson 37, Edward H. Rollins 105, Harry Bingham 111. Rollins, Stevens Marston and Patterson each gained one from yesterday's vote.

Petroleum in Missouri.

Rich Hill, Mo., June 27.—The Foote and Beaumont well, at a depth of 600 feet, has struck a heavy vein of petroleum. Other wells will be at once sunk, tanks erected and refineries established. The oil is pronounced by experts to be equal to the finest petroleum in Pennsylvania.

The Garfield Monument.

Chicago, June 27.—[Special.]—A special to the Times says the Garfield monument committee yesterday selected a site in Lake View cemetery, in Cleveland, overlooking the country for miles. The fund in hand is $30,000.

Californians at Yale.

New Haven, June 27.—[Special.]—Among the graduates of '83 present at Yale to-day was A. E. Kent of California. Among the graduates of the law school receiving the degree of LL. D. was Walter T. Baggs of Stockton.

Gould's Yacht.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—One of the Messrs. Cramp, builders of Gould's yacht, the Atlanta, says he is convinced she can beat any steamboat afloat, including the steamers Arizona and Alaska.

Archbishop Wood's Will.

Philadelphia, June 27.—Archbishop Wood's last will and testament was admitted to probate to-day. It bequeaths all his effects, real and personal, to his successor in office.

PAUPER IMMIGRATION.

Correspondence Relative to the Disposition of the Recent Cargo.

Washington, June 27.—Following is a copy of the correspondence conducted by telegraph between the secretary of the treasury and the collector of customs at New York, in regard to pauper immigration:

New York, June 26.

Hon. Charles J. Folger, Secretary of the Treasury: The commissioners of immigration notify me of the arrival, per steamer Furnesia, after they had landed, of sixty-six families from Ireland. The commissioners do not certify, in the language of the law, that these immigrants are unable to take care of themselves, but they are from poor houses. Their passage was paid by the British government, and nearly all the heads of families are furnished with drafts for small amounts. The persons having landed, please instruct me what action, if any, I shall take under the law, the immigrants being detained by the commissioners.

A. H. ROBERTSON, Collector.

SECRETARY FOLGER'S REPLY.

Treasury Department, Washington, June 26.

Collector of Customs, New York:—Though it is inferable from the report of the commissioner that the immigrants spoken of in your message to-day are within section 2, of the act of August, 1882, this section gives your jurisdiction only when the commissioners report. Refer the case back to them for judgment, whether these persons are unable to care for themselves, without becoming a public charge. If the commissioners report affirmatively, put the persons back upon the vessel, and do not permit them to land. If negatively, or if they decline to report a conclusion, let the immigrants depart.

CHAS. J. FOLGER, Secretary.

WHAT SECRETARY FOLGER SAYS.

Secretary Folger said, in speaking on the subject, that the act of August 12, 1882, provides that the secretary of the treasury may enter into contract with the state commission or board, to be designated by the governor of a state, and put upon the body so chosen the duty of examining into the condition of the passengers arriving by sea. The governor of New York has designated the commissioners of immigration at the port of New York, to act in that capacity for New York, and arrangements have been made with them to execute the law. They have been instructed in case they find any immigrant unable to take care of himself without becoming a public charge, to report the same in writing to the collector of customs, and such person will not be permitted to land.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

PARTICULARS OF THE LATEST TRANS-CONTINENTAL SCHEME.

Montreal, June 26.—[Special.]—The contract for another great railway enterprise was given out to-day, to build a new line, called the Ontario and Pacific railway, from Cornwall, on the bank of the St. Lawrence, to Sault Ste. Marie, to connect with the Northern Pacific railway, over a big bridge, to the western terminus 700 miles. It is claimed this will make the most direct and shortest line to the west from the Atlantic seaboard, and will give the Northern Pacific an advantage over both the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk from ocean to ocean. The dominion government's charter gives the company power to build a bridge over the St. Lawrence, and American connections are already secured from the border line to Portland, Maine, Boston, and New York. A large part of the new road will run almost parallel with the Canadian Pacific to Sault Ste. Marie. It will receive subsidies from municipal and other sources. The contract was given to Philadelphia men, and the promoters are American and Canadian capitalists. Bonds to the extent of $12,000,000 will be issued. Duncan McIntyre and R. B. Angus, directors, and Van Horne, general manager, went off in a hurry to meet President Stevens of the Canadian Pacific relative to this threatening scheme. How they can counteract it without purchasing the charter is a mystery. The project, which has been kept a secret, produced a sensation here to-day. It is popular, as the Canadians have been crying out against the Canadian Pacific men.

MANUFACTORIES FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

San Francisco, June 27.—The Pullman Palace Car Company expect to establish a branch manufactory in this state in a few months. At present the Central Pacific shops at Sacramento are to be used for repairs of the Allen Car Wheel Company, of which the Pullman company expect soon to have a branch manufactory on this coast. These enterprises will be followed by a manufactory of steel springs, by a well known Pittsburg firm. It is concluded by these movements of eastern firms that some unusual activity in railroad circles is expected.

ROLLING STOCK [illegible] UPON.

Harrisonburg, Va., June 27.—The state auditor yesterday levied upon all the rolling stock of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at this place, and while awaiting the arrival of the 10 A. M. freight and passenger train, levied upon an engine, several [illegible] cars and a passenger car, to satisfy a claim of $20,[illegible] due to the state for back taxes. The road desires [illegible] and will endeavor to obtain an injunction [illegible].

THE ANGRY WATERS.

The Mississippi and the Missouri Begin to Fall—Partial Estimate of Losses.

St. Louis, June 27.—Word comes from East St. Louis this morning that the river continues to fall slowly, at [illegible] that section of country west of [illegible] and the railroad track. At [illegible] the water has fallen [illegible] quite a foot, but in that part of the bottoms east of [illegible] road, a steady stream is still [illegible]

Railroad Commissioners' Meeting.

San Francisco, June 27.—The railroad commission met this morning for the purpose of hearing representatives of the Central Pacific, as to why reduction should not be made in freight rates from certain points in the interior to tide water, an order to show cause having been served on the corporation. General Barnes appeared for the North Pacific Coast Railroad Company, a corporation which had been included in the order. He said the road never had been a paying institution. He asked that the road be excepted from the order of the board, or if not, that a hearing be granted on the facts that the line had no through business, was purely a local concern, run for the benefit of the people along its line, and was run principally upon the profits of the ferry.

J. C. Stubbs, freight traffic manager of the Central Pacific, asked more time. He protested against the reductions as not demanded by the public affected by them. In response to questions Mr. Stubbs stated that no freight tariff could be framed except on a comparison rate with the volume of business. If the business of the New York Central could be guaranteed to the Central Pacific he was taking the responsibility of saying the company would duplicate New York Central rates.

It was decided to allow Mr. Stubbs time to argue the schedule of freights, now in process of preparation for the board, and adjournment was had until Monday next.

Arranging for a Division of California Traffic.

San Francisco, June 27.—[Special.]—It is understood in railroad circles here that arrangements are being quietly made by a number of eastern roads connecting with California lines, to bring about at least a fair division of passenger traffic eastward. No definite plan has yet been decided upon, but the next few days are expected to develop matters affecting such roads as have entered into competition for California passenger traffic. A representative of one of these roads stated to an Oregonian correspondent that, with the completion of the Northern Pacific, much of the present passenger movement to the east would be taken from the lines connecting at Omaha with the Union Pacific, by reason of the new road and shorter time consumed in making the trip. Another important consideration for eastern lines is the extension from Portland and the Union Pacific, constructing the Oregon Short Line. So far as roads terminating at Omaha are concerned, he admitted that the outlook is not at all promising, and it was not improbable that important developments would be made with a view of meeting such roads upon an equal footing as had become masters of the situation, through their affiliations with Pacific lines.

Of Interest to Wheelmen.

[Special.]—The negotiations opened by parties in Portland to induce wheelmen in this city to take part in a tournament to begin there in July, and for which Merrill, formerly of this city, has entered, does not meet with approval. It is reported here that Merrill has represented himself as the champion of the coast, while the truth is a number of amateurs can be found who will close him out in from one to three miles. The fact that they are amateurs prevents them from competing with him, but the time made by them never has been equaled by Merrill. While he was yet in the amateur ranks he was easily defeated at the pavilion by Eggers and others.

Work on the Oregon Short Line.

[Special.]—Col. D. W. Hitchcock, general agent of the Union Pacific in this city, who returned from the east yesterday, states that grading on the Oregon Short Line is completed to within an easy distance of Baker City, and track laying is going on as rapidly as possible. Material is being hauled over the Union Pacific and distributed along the line of the road, so that little delay is experienced in making headway. Arrangements were recently made by which Pullman palace cars will, on completion of the road, run from Omaha to Portland.

Result of the Ashuelot Court Martial.

Ex-Commander H. M. Mullen, of the ill-fated United States steamer Ashuelot, lost on the coast of Japan, and members of the board of inquiry sent out to ascertain the cause of the disaster, were passengers on the Oceanic. It is ascertained from them that the naval court martial recommended the dismissal of Commander Mullen. Chief Engineer James Entwistle was suspended one year from navigating. Lieut. A. B. Wyckoff was exonerated. The finding is yet to be reviewed by the secretary of the navy.

Chinese Shoemakers on a Strike.

Three hundred Chinese shoemakers struck for an increase of twenty-five cents a day, and in consequence fifteen factories are doing nothing. The men now are paid $1 15, and wish $1 40. Factory owners express a belief that the strikers will be glad to return to work Monday, as they can get no employment at other factories. One of the largest factories has substituted white men, and advertised for more.

Chinamen and Opium.

The Oceanic, from Hongkong and Yokohama, brought 257 Chinese. Eighty-eight are for Victoria, and leave by the Dakota, Friday. The remainder land here. She brought $459,200 worth of opium. Shortly after she was docked seizure was made of $126 worth of contraband goods.

Tax Roll.

The real estate roll for the ensuing fiscal year will be turned over to the supervisors for equalization on Monday next. The total amount will be between $157,000,000 and $158,000,000, an increase of $7,000,000 over last year, of which $3,500,000 will be for improvements and $3,500,000 appreciation of property.

Lazy Prisoners.

Forty prisoners from Alcatraz, at work at the Presidio, refused to do duty. Two companies were called out, and the prisoners, preferring imprisonment to ball, surrendered. The ringleader will probably be tried by court martial.

The Stonewall Jackson.

Four hundred and fifty tons of wheat have been taken out of the ship Stonewall Jackson, which went ashore on the Irish coast recently. The vessel was from Astoria, Oregon, and was bound for Cork.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Miss Willard at Seattle—Notes.

Seattle, W. T., June 27.—[Special.]—Miss Frances Willard, president of the W. C. T. U., arrived here last evening, and was given a rousing reception by the citizens. Addresses of welcome were made on behalf of the city, the law, the press, the Good Templars, the churches, education and the Seattle W. C. T. U. The largest audience ever assembled in this city listened to Miss Willard's glowing and eloquent speech. A number of temperance people from Olympia and elsewhere about the Sound are here, and the union is holding interesting day meetings in the Congregational church. Miss Willard is now speaking to an immense number in Yesler's hall.

The coal bunkers are being extended thirty-two feet further out into deep water, and the work of completing the work in a superior manner is being vigorously pushed ahead.

A new wharf of immense proportions is to be built at once here by the Improvement Company. It will be ready for occupation by the time fall grain begins to arrive.

An Old Miner Drowned.

New Tacoma, June 26.—[Special.]—About noon a body was discovered floating about 250 yards from the wharf by some Indians. Being towed in it was taken to the undertaker's and a coroner's inquest held. Papers in the pocket established the deceased to be F. E. Lamb, late of Weeksville, Montana, aged about 65 years. He was an old miner who had been hurt at a logging camp, and probably fell from the railroad trestle into the Puyallup river about ten days ago while on his way to the valley.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

FORBIDDEN TO FISH.

Victoria, June 27.—[Special.]—Notice appears forbidding any foreign ships, vessels or boats not navigated according to the laws of the United Kingdom or of Canada to fish for, take, dry or cure any fish of any kind within three marine miles of the coasts, bays, creeks or harbors of Canada not affected by the convention of 1818 and the treaty of Washington between Great Britain and the United States. Ships, vessels and boats, together with all goods, tackle, rigging, apparel, furniture, stores and cargo are liable to forfeiture under said acts and may be seized by fishery officers, customs officers, sheriffs, magistrates and commissioned officers of her majesty's navy.

THE REPUBLICANS OF IOWA.

Proceedings of the Convention Assembled at Des Moines—The Platform, Etc.

Des Moines, June 27.—The hotels are full of delegates attending the republican state convention. It seems certain that the platform will urge resubmission of the constitutional amendment, and immediate statutory legislation as well as moderate protective tariff. Governor Sherman, Lieutenant-Governor Manning and Superintendent Akers will be nominated, but the contest on the supreme judge will be animated. Hon. John A. Kasson will be temporary chairman.

Des Moines, June 27.—The republican state convention was called to order, and Hon. John A. Kasson was made temporary chairman. Mr. Kasson, on taking the chair, very briefly reviewed the successful management of the republican party for twenty years in the nation, and in Iowa. He said that whatever may be their honest differences of opinion on some points, on two things all Iowa republicans were agreed, viz: opposition to free trade and free alcohol. Mr. Kasson was frequently interrupted by cheers.

At the afternoon session D. B. Henderson was made permanent chairman, and Senator James F. Wilson chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Mr. Henderson was escorted to the chair, and in a speech full of fire and enthusiasm pledged the party to boom as against the saloon, and to house industries as against the influences of British gold. His speech was enthusiastically applauded.

One of the vice presidents was Addison Rhodes of Mahaska, a former slave who had been sold on the block.

The committee on resolutions was not ready to report to the convention; and on motion of Rev. J. B. Lazier, Buren R. Sherman was nominated for governor by acclamation.

Prof. Akers was nominated for superintendent of public instruction by acclamation.

Judge Reed of Council Bluffs was nominated for judge of the supreme court.

THE PLATFORM.

The platform is quite lengthy. The final resolution reviews the past record of the party. Temperance is dealt with in the following two planks:

Second—That while we extend our earnest sympathy to the people of all countries who are struggling for rights in opposition to oppressive laws and systems, we also plant ourselves on the side of the homes of our own people in their contest against saloons; that while the republican party of Iowa pledged itself in 1879 to give to the people, at a special non-partisan election, an opportunity to vote on a proposition to so amend the constitution of the state as to prohibit the manufacture and sale as a beverage of intoxicating liquors, it acted in good faith, and the special election of June 27, 1882, evidences the redemption of the pledge so given; and we now declare that we accept the result of that election, with its majority of 29,974 votes in favor of the adoption of the amendment so voted on, as the verdict of the people in favor of constitutional and statutory prohibition, and without making a new test of party fealty we recognize the moral and political obligation which requires the enactment of such laws by the general assembly as shall provide for the establishment and enforcement of the principles and policy affirmed by the people at said non-partisan election; and to that and the faith of the party is pledged.

The other resolutions of general interest are as follows:

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Fourth—That the power to delegate state commerce belongs to the general assembly, and that which relates to interstate commerce to congress, and both should be so exercised as to establish a just equilibrium between the producers, transporters and consumers; and all arbitrary discriminations, pools and combinations, to prevent competition or to work injustice to the communities or individuals at either competing or non-competing points should be prohibited, and such prohibition enforced; that the general assembly at its next session should enact a law prohibiting the giving or receiving of public officers of any railroad pass during the terms of office, and the same should be enforced by proper penalties against both givers and receivers.

Sixth—That stability is desirable in such public policy as relates to and affects all productive industries, and we condemn the threat of the Iowa democracy to disturb and keep at unrest said industries, and the capital and labor employed therein, by gradual and persistent efforts to so change the custom laws as to establish free trade; and insist upon such revenue laws as will encourage American industries and protect American labor, in order that the workingman shall have a fair day's wages for a fair day's work, and to assure permanent employment.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY DENOUNCED.

Seventh—That the inability of the democratic party during the past years that it held control of the house of representatives of congress to agree on a general revision of the tariff and civil service, notwithstanding the subjects were constantly and preeminently presented in its platforms, and the passage of laws affecting both of said objects by a republican congress at the late session, demonstrates anew the capability of the former to deal with the questions of great public concern, and that the country must rely on the latter for practical legislation. As support for such reliance we point proudly to the action of the late republican congress, as heretofore mentioned, and also to the additional facts that customs and internal taxation was reduced over $2,000,000, $202,000,000 was appropriated for the payment of pensions to our soldiers, and still an abundant revenue provided to maintain public credit and meet all demands on the treasury of the nation.

Other resolutions favor the repeal of the time clause in the application of a soldier for pensions, and the exemption of soldiers' pension money and homestead from execution.

"The wise, conservative administration of President Arthur meets with the hearty approval of republicans, and we cordially approve the promise given by him to the delegation appointed by the Philadelphia convention of Irish-American citizens, that the subject of the grievance contained in the resolution of said body, presented to him, should have thorough and exhaustive investigation, and such action as the government may lawfully take."

The reading of the platform was constantly interrupted with applause, and the temperance plank was particularly cheered and re-cheered. At the conclusion of its reading it was adopted by a unanimous vote, with renewed applause. Adjourned.

CORRESPONDENCE WITH CROOK.

How the Chiricahuas Got on the Reservation—The General's Appeal.

Washington, June 27.—The following correspondence has taken place between Generals Drum and Crook, relative to the report that the captured Apaches had been forced on the reservation at San Carlos:

Adjutant General's Office,
Washington, June 25.

To Crook:—The secretary of the interior has shown the secretary of war a telegraphic dispatch from Agent Wilcox, saying that the renegade Indians were forced on the reservation the 24th. As the secretary of war, in his dispatch of the 16th, gave special directions to keep the prisoners apart from the Indians who continued peaceful, he supposes, of course, that the agent is incorrect in the statement as given above; but if his orders in this respect have been misunderstood, he desires to repeat the instructions of June 16, and have them fully carried out.

R. C. DRUM, Adjutant General.

Whipple Barracks, June 26.

Adjutant general of the army, Washington: The report that the Chiricahuas had been forced upon San Carlos reservation is incorrect. The facts in the case are that those who surrendered were sent forward with four companies of cavalry and Indian scouts, my instructions to Captain Crawford being that the Chiricahuas should be kept with the scouts until other arrangements could be made. The Chiricahuas who went after their families told me they would join the column at the line, or should we have gone too fast they would follow along the mountains and come in at San Carlos. We have no means of communicating with them until they come in at the agency, and if the first arrivals find that those who started back with us are not with the scouts, we destroy all chance of ever reducing them to a state of peace. The Indians at San Carlos are in no danger of being contaminated by contact with the Chiricahuas. As a matter of humanity I am anxious to get in the last of this band so as to leave nothing undone for the recovery of the captive boy.

CROOK.

The Administration Surprised at Crook's Action.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—Post's Washington: Members of the administration are surprised to learn that Crook had marched the captured Apaches to San Carlos reservation. It had not been supposed that he would take such speedy action, as the president has not authorized the movement to be made. The proposition of the cabinet is that these Indians shall be placed on a reservation which shall be created in the Warm Springs country in New Mexico, and, accordingly, as announced yesterday, Crook has been summoned here for a conference. The theory is that on the reservation of the Warm Springs the Apaches would take on the habits of civilization, as the Modocs have been doing. There is no concealment of the opinion at the interior department as to the propriety of carrying out a vigorous policy with respect to the Apaches, notwithstanding Crook's disposition to treat them more gently. Assistant Secretary Joslyn bluntly says the ringleaders ought to be hanged, and thinks such punishment would have strong moral effect on all the Indians in the west, and protests against permitting them to remain at San Carlos.

NORTHERN PACIFIC POLICY.

Principal Interior Points to be Placed on a Distributive Basis.

INTERVIEW WITH THE TRAFFIC SUPERINTENDENT.

Astoria, Seattle, New Tacoma and Portland to be on a Common Footing—What the Company Expect to do in Tourist Travel.

As the date approaches for the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad and the introduction of through freight and passenger arrangements considerable interest is manifested in the probable policy to be adopted by the company in connection with its through traffic. With a view of answering some of these inquiries an Oregonian reporter sought Mr. John Muir, superintendent of traffic of the lines involved, whom he found in his office, and asked:

"When do you expect your Northern Pacific line will be completed and in operation?"

Mr. Muir—"We expect to run through passenger trains between this coast and St. Paul by September 1, and will probably be fully equipped for freight traffic within three or four weeks after that date. Work has progressed much more rapidly than we anticipated and the inaugural ceremonies will doubtless take place during the last week in August."

"What will be the actual distance from Portland to St. Paul?"

"One thousand nine hundred and sixteen miles."

"Will you run through cars?"

"Certainly. Passengers will be enabled to take through Pullman palace sleepers at Portland and go through to the great lakes without change. The dining cars, which are becoming so popular in the east, will also be added to the trains at proper places together with reclining chair cars between all important points."

"What do you expect to do in the way of a tourist business?"

"I do not hesitate to say that I believe the Northern Pacific, in connection with the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, will shortly be the greatest tourist line in the country. Aside from the many pleasure resorts which are already advertised and open to the public, such as the Yellowstone and Pyramid parks, the Mammoth hot springs, the Pend d'Oreille region, Columbia river, Sound, Alaska and the newly explored glaciers of Mount Tacoma, there are hundreds of beautiful spots all along the line. Mineral springs have been discovered in some localities, and when the country is settled, many of these new places will rival the summer resorts of the east."

"What are to be the rates of fare from St. Paul to points on the Pacific coast?"

"To Pacific coast points, first class fare will be $100; emigrant, $46. To Spokane Falls, Walla Walla, etc., first class, $97 50; emigrant, $42 50."

"How do these rates compare with the rates made by the Union and Central Pacific lines?"

"That is best illustrated by taking their emigrant rates from Omaha to Winnemucca, 1152 miles, which is $43; while our rate from St. Paul to Walla Walla, a distance of 270 miles farther, is but $42 50. This last rate we will also establish to Wallula, Dayton and Pendleton, the lowest rate via the other overland lines being $45. In other words, they make their charge to all intermediate points the same as to their terminal, San Francisco, while, as I have said, our rate to interior points will be less than the through rate."

"What baggage allowance will be made?"

"One hundred pounds on each full ticket, fifty on each half ticket."

"What accommodations are to be afforded immigrants?"

"We are now building in the east a number of substantial immigrant sleeping cars, which will provide for them most of the comforts of first-class travel."

"What basis of through freight rates do you propose to adopt?"

"We will adopt practically the same classification and tariff on overland business as that now in force upon the other transcontinental routes."

"What is to be the policy of the company in regard to rates from the east to points east of the Cascade mountains? Are you going to make up your rates to inland points by adding to the Portland rates the locals from Portland back, so that a merchant of Walla Walla, for instance, will be compelled to pay for transportation which he never enjoyed?"

"No sir; the rates to all points west of lake Pend d'Oreille will not be higher than those to Portland."

"What other Pacific coast points will be placed on the same footing with Portland?"

"Astoria, New Tacoma and Seattle will be common points with Portland."

"Why not Victoria?"

"Victoria is not upon our rail line. All the other points I named will be rail points when the system is completed. However, there will be but a small additional charge added from Seattle to Victoria for lighterage."

"Will any points east of the Cascades be made distributing points for the business of the interior?"

"Under the plan which I have just outlined—that is, putting Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague, Walla Walla, Dayton, Pendleton, The Dalles, etc., upon the same footing with Portland—each of those places will become a distributing point for the locality which is naturally tributary to it. The idea is to make the rates common and let the business divide itself geographically."

"In what manner do you propose to treat shippers who now have contracts via the other overland lines?"

"We have not yet determined what course to pursue in regard to the contract system. All contracts now in force with Pacific coast consignees by the other lines expire December 31, and until the end of the year we will take up such contracts upon Pacific coast business and duplicate such contract rates to Portland. Understanding this, shippers will no doubt reduce their present stocks to a minimum, with a view of saving the transportation from San Francisco north."

"What new avenues of trade, if any, will be opened up to Portland and the northwest coast on the completion of the line?"

"The traffic of the Northern Pacific will be divided at a point midway between Bozeman on the east and Missoula on the west. That is, the rates from the Pacific coast to Missoula and points east of Missoula as far as Bozeman will be precisely the same as rates from St. Paul to the same points. This, you see, will make a neutral territory for a distance of 145 miles equally accessible to trade from the east and from the west. This territory, moreover, includes all the important points in Montana. Merchants from this coast will have the same opportunity to supply this neutral section as those in St. Paul and the east."

"What new westbound traffic, if any, will be opened up from this interior section?"

"That question touches upon a subject which promises to become of great interest. In addition to the mineral and cattle interests, which are constantly growing, there is an immense quantity of copper ore and matte at Butte, Helena and vicinity which is now shipped through via New York to reduction works in Swansea, Wales. Upon the completion of the Northern Pacific this product will find a new outlet by way of the Pacific coast. One large smelting company alone in Butte guarantee during 1885 the shipment of not less than 40,000 tons of this matte. I believe the time is not far ahead when this traffic in copper matte and ore will not fall far behind the present wheat surplus of Oregon and Washington. If ship charters can be obtained for something like fifty shillings, which ought to be done in connection with return cargoes of coke, a through rate could be made via this coast which would bring the entire copper and matte business this way.

I might allude also, in this connection, to the fact that as soon as the price of English coke can be figured down to something like $8 50 per ton of 2000 pounds delivered here, an extensive traffic can doubtless be worked up in this article from Portland to the smelting works. Connellsville coke, coming from Pennsylvania, is now of course the standard, but it is an acknowledged fact that the English coke is superior by about 15 per cent., and as soon as its superiority could be shown to the smelters, they would doubtless take it up even at a slight advance on the price of Connellsville."

"Do you expect to carry any of the grain surplus east over your line?"

"That is a matter which will be developed after the completion of the road. With the experience of the first six months of through traffic, and before the grain crop of next season is harvested, we will be able to see the general direction of the volume of our freight traffic. If the copper ore and matte business which I have spoken of is diverted to the Pacific coast it would of course give us a large surplus of empty cars to return eastbound, which we might profitably load with grain at a comparatively low rate. One thing is certain, after our line is in operation through charters will never be as high as they were season before last. You recollect they were at one time as high as 80 or 90 shillings, and, of course, should they reach such figures we will either step in and take the business overland or compel a reduction to figures approximating say 50 shillings."

"It has been stated you propose to run a line of refrigerator cars to take our fresh fish and fruits to the east?"

"Yes, that matter has already been provided for. We have now in service on the eastern end ten refrigerator cars and are building fifteen more, which will be ready for service by August. Some of these will be specially fitted for fruit and salmon carriage. We need to be added to our refrigerator line and have [illegible] cars for transporting beer. During the month of May our ten refrigerator cars carried over [illegible] pounds of beer, beef, fish, oysters and vegetables."

"When the gap is closed will your company seek to do some of the [illegible] California business, and if so, at what rates?"

"If we solicit any business at San Francisco [illegible] it will be done at uniform rates with [illegible] Within one [illegible] of Pacific coast ships we are in [illegible] to enter the field for this business [illegible] after the road is [illegible] we will [illegible] to take [illegible] our own business in Oregon and Washington territory."

DISPOSITION OF IRISH PAUPER IMMIGRANTS.

Correspondence Between General Crook and Headquarters—Statement of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The Hill Investigation.

Washington, June 27.—J. M. Wilbur testified before the Hill investigation committee to-day that he had an account against the government for work done at the New York postoffice. He presented the account to Hill, who said it was all right but he (Hill) ought to have something for settling such an old claim. He referred witness to Gannon, an employe in his office, who took him aside and told him they ought to have 10 per cent. for settling the bill; witness did not assent and subsequently the claim was disallowed; the matter was considered by congress and the committee on claims made a favorable report, but at a hearing before the senate committee Hill appeared and opposed the claim.

Gannon took the stand for the defense and swore that no proposition had been made by him to Wilbur for 10 per cent. of his claim for passing it; the firm he was connected with never had a contract with the government while he was in the government employ; no reason was assigned for his dismissal from the department; the co-partnership of Simons, Johnson & Gannon was dissolved before Hill became supervising architect.

Hill then took the stand and said a portion of the testimony of Wilbur was true and a part false; "I never had any conversation with Wilbur in which it was either said or intimated that I would receive or permit compensation to be paid for settlement of a claim; the charge of Wilbur is absolutely false." Adjourned.

Internal Revenue Statement.

Washington, June 27.—A statement prepared at the office of the commissioner of internal revenue shows that the aggregate receipts during May 1883, were $346,818 greater than the same month of 1882. There was an increase of $181,729 from spirits, an increase of $220,527 from tobacco, an increase of $167,553 from beer, a decrease of $84,049 from banks and bankers, and a decrease of $38,352 from miscellaneous. In the taxation of tobacco there was an increase of $119,800 on cigars, a decrease of $31,880 on cigarettes, an increase of $17,531 on snuff, an increase of $415,500 on chewing and smoking tobacco, a decrease of $625,762 from dealers in manufactured tobacco, and a decrease of $67,809 from all other sources. A comparative statement of the collection of internal revenue during the first eleven months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1882-83, shows the following total receipts from spirits: 1882, $64,514,092; 1883, $68,852,655; increase, $4,338,563. From tobacco: 1882, $43,450,931; 1883, $39,762,015; decrease, $3,688,905. From fermented liquors: 1882, $14,419,644; 1883, $15,051,498; increase, $631,854. From banks and bankers: 1882, $3,988,721; 1883, $3,748,561; decrease, $240,160. Miscellaneous: 1882, $7,254,571; 1883, $7,249,969; decrease, $84,602. Total receipts: 1882, $131,608,909; 1883, $131,664,758; increase, $1,056,749.

Bidding for the New Steel Cruisers.

Washington, June 27.—[Special.]—It is understood that Pusy and Jones, of the great ship building firms of Delaware, who were expected to compete for contracts for the new cruisers, have written to Secretary Chandler stating they do not propose to put in bids for the work. The reasons alleged are uncertainty about procuring steel to stand the test required, which might cause loss and delay, the small margin left upon the estimates and the problematical course of congress, which might delay making the remainder of the appropriation to finish the ships. It is reported that Roach will probably be the only bidder for the Chicago, as he makes his own steel, unless Gorringe may be ambitious to compete. It is not believed, however, that he had a plant to comply with the requirements of the circular. He may, however, bid for either the Boston or the Atlanta. It is said that all are rather reluctant to bid under all the chances and considering the low estimate for the cost of ships.

Chandler and the New Hampshire Senatorship.

Washington, June 27.—[Special.]—The secretary of the navy is of the opinion there will be no election of United States senator in New Hampshire this week. He does not appear to believe that he would be successful if he should enter the race and doubts whether he would receive more than 100 votes. Chandler also thinks there is little probability that the democrats will unite with the minority republicans to elect General Marston or any other republican, and he appears to expect the choice to fall upon some man who has not yet been put forward prominently as a candidate.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—World's Concord special: "If the plans now forming do not miscarry Wm. E. Chandler will be the man to unite the scattered forces. It may be set down as a fact that he will accept the position. It is known among the leaders that he will accept and they intend to elect him."

Internal Revenue Changes in California.

Washington, June 26.—[Special.]—Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue Rogers says the statement telegraphed by the associated press last night, that the first and fourth revenue districts of California had been consolidated, is not true. The only change is the addition of Nevada to the fourth California district, and the retention of Amos L. Frost, of Sacramento, as collector of the consolidated district. In the first California district, during the last fiscal year, $3,814,492 80 was collected, and in the fourth district $312,484 05 was collected, and in Nevada district $49,103 93 was collected.

Rosecrans on Hoadley.

Washington, June 27.—[Special.]—Speaking of the nominations made in Ohio, General Rosecrans said: "I think Hoadley's nomination is a strong one. I believe he can, and will, get a good many thousand votes that have not been cast with the democratic party hitherto. He will command the entire support of the party. All talk about dissensions in the party, and about democrats refusing to vote for Hoadley, is stuff. He will get the democratic vote and get the bulk of the German vote. Ohio democrats have done the best thing for themselves and the party." General Rosecrans was chairman of the democratic campaign committee last year.

Overland Mail Exchange.

Washington, June 27.—Arrangements have been completed between the department and the republic of Mexico for an overland exchange of mails between the offices of San Diego, California, and Tijuana, Mexico, to commence the 1st proximo. The exchange for the present will be semi-monthly, and mails sent from San Diego should include all correspondence for Tijuana and Real del Castillo, and that for other destinations of Lower California may also be forwarded in this exchange, if specially addressed to go via San Diego, California.

Will be Permitted to Resign.

Washington, June 27.—Secretary Chandler has decided to permit Commander Frederick Smith, who was court martialed for duplicating pay accounts, to resign. The secretary said that although Mr. Smith had been found guilty of duplicating his accounts in more than one instance, he thought his actions were not such as should prevent his being allowed to resign.

Wasson's Sentence Approved.

Washington, June 27.—The president has approved the finding and full sentence of the court-martial in Paymaster Wasson's case, and an order will be issued from the war department to-morrow, officially announcing his sentence, which is to be dismissed from the army and confinement at hard labor for eighteen months in some prison to be selected hereafter.

Hunt-Drumm.

Washington, June 27.—The marriage of Lieutenant Hunt of the navy and Miss Drumm, daughter of Adjutant General Drumm, occurred this evening. President Arthur, Secretary and Mrs. Lincoln and Secretary and Mrs. Chandler were present, as were also the most prominent army and navy officers stationed here.

Sherman's Brother Loses his Head.

Washington, June 27.—[Special.]—The revenue collector decapitated at Des Moines is a brother of General and Senator Sherman, who has held the position fifteen years. Frank Hatton is charged, with having managed the reorganization, and influential republicans of Des Moines propose to call their influence at Washington in setting matters right.

The Mahoneites Triumphant.

Washington, June 27.—[Special.]—The readjusters of Virginia and the coalitionists of North Carolina are in a state of great delight over the rearrangement of internal revenue districts in their states. In Virginia the president has acted on the advice of Senator Mahone in every respect.

Declined.

Washington, June 27.—[Special.]—D. B. Parker, chief inspector of the postoffice department, declines the appointment of postmaster of Washington, with an increase of $1500 in the salary.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A BLACK FIEND LYNCHED.

Jefferson, Texas, June 27.—Late last night a column of 150 horsemen suddenly galloped up and surrounded the jail containing the negro Douglass, guilty of raping a white woman, Mrs. Rogers, for which his companion, a negro named Lacey, was lynched yesterday morning. The deputy sheriff with the guards attempted resistance, but were instantly covered by the assailants and secured. The cell was unlocked and Douglass was pinioned and placed on a horse. The band then disappeared as quickly and mysteriously as it had arrived. This morning, twenty-four miles from the city, Douglass was found hanging from a tree with four bullet holes through his body.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION IN OHIO.

One of the most notable events of the year in relation to the wide-spread effort throughout the United States to tax and regulate the liquor traffic is the decision of the supreme court of Ohio affirming the constitutionality of the act passed by the legislature of that state a short time since "authorizing annual assessments upon the business of traffic in intoxicating liquors." This act, called the "Scott law," levies a tax of $200 a year upon saloons. The tax is small, but it was deemed as heavy as it was prudent to attempt at the beginning of an effort to tax a traffic which has been altogether free from tax or license during more than thirty years. This immunity to the liquor traffic in Ohio during so long a period has been due to a mistake made in the adoption of the constitution of 1850 by which it was declared that "no license to traffic in intoxicating liquors shall hereafter be granted in this state; but the general assembly may by law provide against evils resulting therefrom." It was supposed by the electors who voted for this provision that they were enacting a prohibitory law. But in fact they established free trade in liquors throughout the state, which has continued from that day to this. Hampered by this constitutional restriction, no law, till now, has ever been enacted which would stand the test in the courts. Hitherto every effort to tax has been set aside, on the ground that it was in the nature of an attempt to license. But finally, through the instruction afforded by experience in failure, a law has been framed which is declared constitutional and valid, and the liquor business in Ohio, so long exempt, must hereafter pay a tax as partial compensation for the burdens it entails. Two hundred dollars is a small tax, but it is better than free trade in liquors; and now that the principle of taxation has been affirmed, the tax may be increased at a future session of the legislature.

The political consequences of this decision will be important. The Scott law stands as a measure of the republican party. It presents the chief issue for the coming election. In their platforms, on which the contest of this year is made up between the two parties, the republicans boldly take their stand for this law, speak in its defense, and declare that it ought to be sustained. But it has been attacked by their opponents as an unconstitutional measure, and a bid has been made on this issue for the support of the heavy liquor interests of the state, by the democratic party. Affirmation of the law by the supreme court of the state, therefore comes in good time to strengthen the position of the republicans as authors of the law; and since the act has been pronounced a valid one, there is no probability that it will be repealed. Taxation of the liquor traffic, to a proper and reasonable extent, is too popular a measure, and is backed by too many forces to permit the success of any assault upon it in the interest of free whisky selling; and the democrats of Ohio are unfortunate, as usual, by being on the wrong side of the main question of the day. Now that the principle of taxation has been established in Ohio, that state will soon come up to the standard of the Illinois law, by increasing the tax from $200 to $500. Maintenance of the principle of taxation in Ohio marks another long step in the direction of fiscal and moral reform in the treatment of the liquor question.

ANOTHER "BOSS" ON THE GRID IRON.

Every effort to break down the rule of bossism deserves honorable mention. In New Hampshire just now the republicans are having a turn at it, similar to that witnessed in Oregon last year. Senator Rollins, a "boss" in New Hampshire, is pushing for re-election with the effrontery usual to politicians of his class. He has a compact force in the legislature, as Mitchell had in the Oregon legislature last year, who will have him or nobody. With them Rollins is the "only man." With the characteristic assurance of machine politicians they attempted to drum up for him members enough to give him a caucus nomination. There are 208 republicans in the legislature, but they got only 86 who would vote for him. On this showing, however, they claimed that he had received the caucus nomination, and a few more were "roped in" by the absurd pretense of party regularity, set up by the managers of a rump caucus. But the opponents of Rollins and bossism have stood firmly to their purpose to beat him, and, though he has tried every expedient which desperate politicians in these straits employ, he makes no progress. It is apparent that he cannot win, though some of his backers are uttering the usual fustian about electing him or nobody. As a menace to those who resist the attempt to force him again upon the state they declare that if "the caucus nominee" is not elected and "party usage" upheld, the state will be lost to the republicans in the presidential contest next year. But even this threat brings the "boss" no additional support. The republicans of New Hampshire, like those of other states, intend to see whether a machine manager shall maintain his arrogant claim to rule, or not. The decent thing for the "boss" in everyone of these cases, would be to keep away from the legislature and let it make its own selection. If, however, he was man enough to do that, he would be too large a man to be a "boss," and would stand a chance of election on his own merits, if he had any.

Reports from various sources in eastern Washington flatly contradict the statements given THE OREGONIAN last week by Mr. Philip Ritz. From Walla Walla and its vicinity we have several letters, saying that never in the history of the country were prospects so good. Mr. Ritz's utterances are criticised by a Walla Walla paper with some passion, and we think in ill-considered terms. He undoubtedly gave what seemed to him truthful impressions, though of course it is possible for any observer to be mistaken. And we are extremely pleased to learn from sources whose observation has been close and certain, that Mr. Ritz was mistaken in many particulars. It is quite unnecessary for this journal to reply to foolish insinuations against its own integrity in this matter.

A communication from the secretary of the Merchants' Exchange shows with sufficient clearness that the management of the free whisky organ is not troubled to any painful extent with honest scruples. Not to put too fine a point upon it, certain sneak-thief transactions have been followed by a course of very hardy though excessively stupid lying, which, however, the columns of the organ itself have furnished ample exposure. There is nothing more to be said about so plain a matter further than this, namely that it could lie in the mouth only of such an organ to attack the integrity of a news report only after it had been exposed in stealing and printing it as valuable news—a proceeding which it would still be engaged in had not its method of obtaining it been discovered and the piracy stopped.

A dealer in harvesting machinery informs us that orders for machines continue to come in actively from the Willamette valley, and from this he argues that crop prospects are not so bad as recent reports would indicate. From another source we learn that the worst looking fields in the valley happen to lie along the railroad, and that back toward the foothills crops still promise well. We have, however, a statement from a leading farmer of Washington county to the effect that crop prospects there are very bad. Winter wheat was all frozen out and much of the spring grain does not promise half crop. Fields are heading out with stalks not more than ten or twelve inches high. From Silverton, in Marion county, we have a similar report.

ANOTHER HERETIC.

Dr. R. H. McKim, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity, New York City, a prominent figure in the Episcopal church and one of the three who took the leading part in presenting the Rev. Heber Newton for heresy, now has an opportunity to look at the question from another and a close point of view. He now finds himself charged with heresy. The attitude of the church toward Newton has resulted in a drawing closer of the lines of church control, and to this McKim owes his present situation, which is made aggravated by his recent prosecution of Newton. It came about in this way. The Episcopal council for the diocese of Virginia was about to elect an assistant bishop of Virginia, and Dr. McKim was nominated by the Rev. J. D. Powell for the office. Other candidates were nominated, and in the course of the discussion of names, as reported in the church papers, the Rev. Mr. Norwood remarked that Dr. McKim was said to be a believer in the doctrine of "conditional immortality," and that the fact of a candidate holding this belief would be [illegible] in his, Mr. Norwood's, mind. Rev. Mr. Powell wanted to know who raised this objection and who was prepared to make such a charge against Dr. McKim? His attitude, Mr. Powell said, was that of a defender of the faith in New York. He protested against the introduction of such a statement unless open and specific charges were made.

Rev. Dr. McBride said that he had received a letter from Dr. McKim on the subject, in which letter Dr. McKim said that he did not hold the doctrine referred to as an article of faith but as a theological opinion, and that he was not so firm in declaring the belief as he had been five years before. He was anxious to teach, and did teach, in accordance with his understanding of holy scripture. Dr. Armstrong wanted to hear the whole letter, as a part of it had been read, though he said he was sorry that a private letter should have been introduced at all. Dr. McBride said that, believing Dr. McKim would be nominated, and having heard the objection raised against him, he (Dr. Bride) had written to inquire what Dr. McKim's views really were. The answer, from which he had quoted, was to the effect that the writer would not dogmatize on the doctrine of conditional immortality, though he held it as a personal opinion. Dr. McKim's name as candidate was then withdrawn and Dr. A. M. Randolph was elected.

The public, whose sympathies all along have been with Newton, will not regret to see the discomfiture of one of his accusers, although the principle which has caused it to support Newton will also uphold McKim. While Newton's doctrines did not precisely coincide with the Episcopal articles of faith they did not depart from the true spirit of Christianity, as understood by Episcopalians; while his teachings retained all the pious virtues. He was too honest to play the hypocrite, as does many another clergyman, by professing what he did not believe. Not for the breach of any moral or religious law, but for liberty of pious thought and speech he was reproached and ostracised. Any church which demands in its ministry belief in specified doctrines closely covering the whole ground of Christian faith and practice will drive from its pulpits men of honesty and of mental power. Vigorous minds cannot be directed this way or that by authority of church creeds. The case of Mr. McKim, the "defender of the faith," is a sufficient illustration of this.

NORTHERN PACIFIC POLICY.

Information of great interest to all parts of the northwest is furnished to the public to-day through Mr. John Muir's statements concerning the traffic policy of the Northern Pacific. There has been much speculation as to the policy which the railroad would adopt and pursue toward different points with relation to through business from the east. Mr. Muir's statements will set this at rest, giving assurance of fair treatment to all points and no favoritism to any. The policy of the Central Pacific will not be pursued. That is to say, passengers from the east to Walla Walla and other points in the interior will be carried for less money than to Portland and Puget Sound, and instead of charging for freight sent to intermediate points the full through rate to Portland and adding thereto the local rate back, the rates to all points west of Pend d'Oreille lake will not be higher than those to Portland. This policy will put all points east of the Cascade mountains on the same footing with Portland, and make each one a distributing center for the business of its own section. Many details of very important information are furnished through this interview, indicating a large and liberal policy on the part of the management of the Northern Pacific. THE OREGONIAN commends the report of these highly important and very ample statements to the attention of the whole country.

The grazing lands of Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, eastern Oregon and Idaho are estimated at 1,000,000,000 acres. The Oregon Short Line is now opening a region capable of supporting 5,000,000 cattle and 10,000,000 sheep, which, when it shall be fully occupied can export yearly 600,000 cattle, 1,500,000 sheep and 10,000,000 pounds of wool. The Union Pacific recently offered 1,775,000 acres of grazing lands in Nebraska at an average of $1 per acre, besides large blocks in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming aggregating over 2,000,000 acres, at an average of .75 cents per acre.

The crushed-stone pavement has been tried for three years in this city and has proven a failure. The improvement, so-called, costs a great deal of money; while after the first season the street is scarcely better than in its original state. The stone grinds up into fine dust, which throughout the dry months is an abomination, and in wet weather becomes a sticky paste, disagreeable under foot and ruinous to shoes and clothes. If instead of the soft rock now used, a firmer stone which would stand wear were used, the crushed-rock roads will be all that is desired.

Brady is not yet out of the woods. A fresh indictment was found at Washington against him immediately after his acquittal by the recent jury. It charges him with having taken a bribe upon a mail contract in New Mexico which he had awarded to James B. Price. Of this fresh prosecution the New York Times says: "The case is one that can be tried in a very few days. The evidence must be direct and compact, and the statute of limitations has not run against any of the acts set forth in the accusations."

Among the first shipments from Helena, Montana to the east will be a large amount of bullion. Fifty car loads of "Gregory bars" are now awaiting transportation, which will be provided for by July 4. These bars are now stacked in long rows upon the side tracks at Helena station. Their weight aggregates 1,000,000 pounds. Montana will supply the Northern Pacific with considerable metal freightage.

Within a few days the City of Rome and the State of Indiana, Atlantic steamships, ran aground, the one in entering and the other in leaving New York harbor. And scarcely a week passes without a similar accident.

If Col. Ingersoll really thought, as he said, that the star route verdict was the most popular rendered for years, he must have been terribly shocked when he read the papers of the 15th inst.

Mr. Watterson has been dubbed "Tilden's Boswell."

The race track of the Seattle driving park association is located in the beautiful Duwamish valley, less than four miles from Seattle, and is said to be the best course in the Pacific coast. Since the association was organized it has put the track in first class order. A new fence surrounds the course and a handsome grand stand has been erected capable of seating at least 1,000 persons. The midsummer races will take place July 3, 4 and 5, for which a large number of entries have been made.

BUTLER AT HARVARD.

He Regrets his Lack of a College Education—An Allusion to his Snub.

BOSTON, June 27.—Governor Butler and Lieut. Governor Ames left for Harvard college this morning with members of the staff and national lancers for escort. The governor was driven in an elegant barouche drawn by six horses. He was dressed in citizen's clothes.

Butler was received at the college by President Eliot without any formalities. The commencement procession was formed and Governor Butler, escorted by President Eliot, led the line, and following in the usual order came the fellow overseers, headed by President Hoar, lieutenant governor and governor's staff and the Harvard trustees. On reaching the chapel the [illegible] which was rapidly filled. When Governor Butler, escorted by Charles Francis Adams, mounted the platform there was slight applause, which the governor did not acknowledge. Degrees will be conferred [illegible] bachelors of arts, [illegible], eight doctors of medicine, seventy masters of arts, twelve doctors of philosophy and five bachelors of laws.

At the alumni dinner the toast of "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts" was announced by the presiding officer, who said: "I call upon his Excellency, the governor, to respond, and I bespeak for him your careful attention." (Applause and cheers.) As the governor arose the applause was [illegible]. The governor said he regretted his great misfortune that he could not address the company as "Brethren of the alumni." What little education he obtained was given to a far humbler institution. His earliest recollection of Harvard was in 1831, when he came down to see a commencement, and returned so filled with [illegible] his inability to gratify the wish that he might be one of those just entering a college course. He had sent his son there, however. "But why does Massachusetts, in the person of Harvard, call for anybody to speak for her? She speaks for herself as regards her oldest and favored child always. (Applause.) Your president has shown that he is not unmindful, as you are not, of the gifts of money and donations of the commonwealth, but he will pardon me if I say that these are among the least of benefits the commonwealth has given this university. One of the best and most gifts has been her children, whom she has sent here for education, that have made you and the commonwealth famous throughout the country. (Applause and cheers.) And more, she gave what is still more valuable—a recognition and compliment never paid by another state to any other institution of learning—she made you a place in her laws under the constitution."

TOO HIGH FOR THE PEOPLE.

The governor detailed the advantage and protection secured Harvard under the state constitution, and traced from its foundation the course of the college in meeting the educational wants of the advancing age. "The world," he said, "is ceasing to need so much of a given kind of teaching as was needed when your college was founded. It has become practical, worldly, if you please, and you must follow that. See to it that the chemist, the engineer and the mechanic can learn here all that exalts him to carry on the world, because by these hereafter the world will be carried on. How near and dear to the heart of Massachusetts must Harvard have been when, in 1820, it not only relieved Harvard of taxes but every professor and student was similarly relieved. If the college has swung in any degree from the affections of the people, swing her back, popularize her, bring her down to the people and the people up to her, and make her what she was at the beginning of the century." [Applause.]

After dwelling upon the benefits the state receives from the university, Governor Butler made the only reference of the day to the refusal of the overseers to confer an honorary degree on him.

AN ALLUSION TO THE SNUB.

"Allusion has been made to the fact that men of Harvard were among the first that went to the war of the rebellion. Yes, I know that; nobody knows that better than I do, and Harvard has done one thing today which, if I felt, after the kind reception you have given me, a thought of unkindness toward her, would wipe it all away. (Tremendous applause and cheers.) Forty years ago I entered the military service of Massachusetts. Soon after I became an officer of a regiment of Massachusetts militia. The officers of that regiment thought they had one of the best men in the regiment, a pious, kind-hearted, energetic, brave man for chaplain. Such a chaplain was found in the Sixth regiment of Massachusetts militia. That regiment was one of the first to march away, because it was ready and then met the baptism of fire and blood at Baltimore. In that regiment was Rev. Mr. Babbidge, its chaplain, on whom your college has this day conferred the well won and deserved degree of doctor of divinity. (Applause. Three cheers for Babbidge were given, that gentleman rising and bowing.) The governor closed his address with a warm tribute to Harvard men who took part in the war.

MONTANA.

Highway Robbers Repulsed.

HELENA, June 27.—[Special.]—While the Deer Lodge coach was crossing the main ridge of the Rockies, eighteen miles west of here, Saturday afternoon, two men stepped out in front, with handkerchiefs tied across their faces, and ordered a halt. John McCormack, post trader at Fort Missoula, sat beside the driver. He opened fire with a six-shooter, and one of the robbers was instantly wounded. The horses took fright, and the coach was dragged to a place of safety. None of the other passengers were armed.

There are about 250 Chinese at work on the approaches of the railroad tunnel at Siskiyou mountains, and about 100 whites are in the same vicinity.

[illegible]DAY MORNING, JUNE 28, 1883.

CITY.

[illegible] Story.—The O. R. & N. train brought [illegible] last evening Ezra Beard of Lewiston, [illegible] of Nez Perce county, Idaho, who had [illegible] and a woman, both adjudged insane, [illegible] a special permit, were committed to the [illegible] asylum, East Portland. The woman's case [illegible] so as to attract the attention and finally [illegible] the sympathy of nearly every person on [illegible] train. She is accompanied by her hus[illegible] [illegible] F. Stikton, who is assiduous in his atten[illegible] [illegible] afflicted wife, and burst into tears upon [illegible] from her last night at the asylum. [illegible] particular attention was paid to the [illegible] woman's wild ravings, as at times she [illegible] with her husband in the vain en[illegible] [illegible] escape from him. Her appearance would [illegible] She would froth at the mouth, her [illegible] would roll as if delirious, [illegible] a low, growling sound, she [illegible] a vicious snapping at her husband, [illegible] tearing his clothes and sometimes [illegible] her teeth into his flesh. Many believe [illegible] symptoms are those of that horrible dis[illegible] [illegible]phobia, and that the poor woman is more [illegible] in a hospital than of being [illegible] in a mad-house. Hydrophobia is a hitherto [illegible] malady on this coast, but it is sure to come [illegible]. Therefore, it would be a good plan for [illegible] of Portland to examine well into this case. If the woman has hydrophobia, the man [illegible] have it, having been bitten so frequently. [illegible] is here in the city penniless, having [illegible] all his means in taking care of his wife, [illegible] do now is a question that is not easily [illegible]. A most noble impulse of affection prompts [illegible] by her side, but without means this is [illegible]. Rev. Dr. Lindsley, who also came down, [illegible] has interested himself in the matter [illegible] the attention of the charitably disposed [illegible].

[illegible] the Slate.—It seems that the [illegible] city officials, made out and printed [illegible] these columns as the one which would [illegible] to the common council at their next [illegible], will meet with a strong and de[illegible] quiet, opposition. One of the members of the council was accosted yesterday by an Oregonian repre[illegible] asked what he thought of the slate [illegible] "What I have thought of many an[illegible] that has been offered concerning the [illegible] city in times gone by. Such things [illegible] out the way they are figured by [illegible] of the machine. You mark my [illegible] long way off from confirma[illegible] [illegible] vote of that in the morning, will [illegible] names, and see if what I tell you [illegible] that way. Besides, it is by no [illegible] that the mayor will present these [illegible] for confirmation. He is true [illegible] importuned, but whether he [illegible] remains to be seen. I [illegible] speak."

[illegible]—About as beautiful a piece of [illegible] was ever shown here, is an album [illegible] the O. R. & N. Company to be pre[illegible]. It consists of a number of [illegible], 12x16 inches, bound in book [illegible] of inlaid wood, highly pol[illegible] [illegible] composed of ash burl, maple [illegible] and Alaska cedar, white and ebon[illegible] the Oregon Furniture Company. [illegible] remarkably fine specimen of [illegible] consisting of an easel set upon a [illegible] a frame, in which is the in[illegible] [illegible] and the Pacific northwest. [illegible] spots along the valley of the Co[illegible] [illegible] northern Montana, near its [illegible] ocean." The album is bound [illegible]. A similar album will be [illegible] & Co. for the new steamship [illegible] will ornament the general offices [illegible]

[illegible]—Frank Overaitter, a team[illegible] [illegible] accident yesterday morning [illegible] and Morrison. He was driv[illegible] [illegible], and in turning the wheels [illegible] wagon and throwing him [illegible] became frightened and ran [illegible] him along. Dr. H. E. Jones, [illegible] ran to his assistance, [illegible] the man was taken [illegible] on Fifth and Mill [illegible] showed that the man had [illegible] and contusion on the left [illegible] the left arm and a [illegible] eye. The skull is thought [illegible] though the brain was not [illegible]. He was afterward [illegible] Hospital, where he was [illegible] received the best of care.

[illegible]—There was a good sale of [illegible] to-morrow night's char[illegible] [illegible] be as there should be a [illegible] interested in music [illegible] Lonsdale the old favorite, [illegible] to listen to Mrs. Gru[illegible] [illegible] Mr. Mason, the latest addi[illegible] [illegible] those whom the pro[illegible] welcome. In fact, [illegible] a better or more pop[illegible] [illegible] knows well the [illegible] work for good, and [illegible] of the Ladies' Relief [illegible]. Hence only a [illegible] out liberal response.

[illegible]—Tuesday evening a [illegible] boathouse and hired [illegible] return. As he did [illegible] Mr. Ball swore [illegible] for his arrest and [illegible] boat. One of the search [illegible] on his way down [illegible] island, and saw him safely [illegible] went to visit sick rela[illegible] [illegible] than he expected to [illegible] his way home and prom[illegible] [illegible] he received his fire[illegible] [illegible] he was not taken into [illegible] went to see his girl and so [illegible] stay all night.

[illegible]—Referring to the proposed [illegible], Mr. R. E. O'Brien, chief [illegible] Company, said yesterday [illegible] that plans for the foundry [illegible] the company were now [illegible] for erecting the building. [illegible] feet wide, of brick [illegible]. Two San Fran[illegible] [illegible] are now figuring on the [illegible] expect to be able to put in [illegible] house, repair shops, [illegible] before the rainy season.

[illegible]—The failures in Oregon and [illegible] for three months ending [illegible] by R. G. S. G. SKIDMORE'S WILL.

How with Lavish Hands he Bequeaths his Property Among those Friends whom he had Trusted and Found True.

In the county court yesterday the will of S. G. Skidmore, deceased, was admitted to probate and the persons named therein appointed executors. The original will dated April 12, 1874, was so modified by the last and only codicil as to be almost entirely changed. Following is the codicil, which names every bequest and legacy, and is dated June 10, 1883:

I, Stephen G. Skidmore, of the city of Portland, Oregon, temporarily residing at San Rafael, Marin county, California, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby make, publish and declare this codicil to my will made at Portland, Oregon, the 12th day of April, A. D. 1874:

First—I give and bequeath to Homer D. Sanborn, my library furniture, pictures, paintings and engravings, at the residence, corner of Ninth and Alder streets, Portland, Oregon, hereby annulling the bequest of the same to Chas. E. Sitton and Lewis G. Millard.

Second—I hereby give and bequeath in lieu of the bequests contained in article 6 of the said will the following legacies:

To my sister, Mrs. Martha Comer of Larned, Kansas, the sum of $10,000.

To my sister, Mrs. Mary Preston, of the town of Vancouver, W. T., the sum of $10,000 instead of $5000.

To Mrs. Jno. Skidmore of Chillicothe, Illinois, the sum of $5000.

To John Kepner of Chillicothe, the sum of $1000 instead of $500.

To J. G. T. Follett of Peoria, Illinois, the sum of $2000 instead of $1000.

To Mrs. Homer D. Sanborn of Portland, Oregon, the sum of $10,000 instead of $2000.

I hereby revoke the bequest to W. S. Caldwell and Charles Skidmore.

In lieu of the bequest contained in article 7 of said will, I give and bequeath to the Portland library association the sum of $5000 for the building fund.

In lieu of the bequest contained in article 8 of said will, I give to F. Beall the sum of $100 per month for the period of five years from my death.

I hereby cancel and annul the legacy of Samuel M. Smith, and also those to Wesley J. Van Schuyver and the item of $2000 contained in article 11 of said will.

I hereby cancel and annul article 12 of said will and all the legacies therein contained, and in lieu of said article I give and bequeath to Miss Jennie Dale of Syracuse, New York, the sum of $1000.

To John Vestal of Portland, Oregon, the sum of $5000.

To Miss Emma Millard the sum of $5000.

To James Butler, my servant, the sum of $5000.

To Mrs. G. L. De Prans of Portland, Oregon, the sum of $3000.

To Mrs. O. E. Nickerson of San Francisco, California, the sum of $3000.

To Miss S. A. Rightmire of San Francisco the sum of $3000.

To Mrs. J. T. Hoyt of San Rafael, Marin county, California, the sum of $1000.

I hereby appoint W. J. Van Schuyver to act as an executor with C. E. Sitton and L. G. Millard without bonds, or their survivors.

(Signed) S. G. SKIDMORE.

The above codicil was witnessed by Robert Watt and D. H. Whittemore. The original will provides for the sale of real and personal property in order to satisfy these various bequests and legacies, and after all such are satisfied, the entire remainder goes to Chas. E. Sitton, the partner and friend of the deceased. The estimated value of the Skidmore estate is about $175,000.

BRIEF MENTION.

The Turn Verein will meet this evening.

The Y. M. H. A. will give their fourth annual picnic next Sunday per the steamer A. A. McCully to Washougal.

Sherman's circus, which is advertised to again visit Portland this season, is now giving performances at Victoria.

This evening is the anniversary of Unity Lodge A. O. U. W., and the members will appropriately celebrate the event.

There are messages at the Western Union office for John Graf, J. O. Landers, J. H. Love, Dr. Meek, A. G. Bechtol, Bertie Maxwell and J. T. Merrill.

Dr. Moody collected $40 in coin and a lot of groceries, all of which were presented to Mrs. Irwin, the destitute woman of East Portland, yesterday.

The closing exercises of the Frobel Kindergarten will take place at the Unitarian chapel under direction of Mrs. Dunlap, from 10 A. M. till 12 Friday morning.

The Idaho will sail for Alaska next Saturday, the 30th inst., carrying a number of excursionists. So large are the offerings of freight that the Eureka will sail about the 10th of next month.

Comegys & Vestal of Kalama have disposed of their business to Martin & Lyons, the former gentlemen having decided to settle in business at Snohomish, W. T. Mr. Comegys is now in this city.

James Kiefer, who was convicted of manslaughter in killing a Chinaman at Chico, California, has been granted a new trial. A reward of $500 is due to Captain Luther, of the Portland police force, for Kiefer's capture in this city.

PERSONAL.

Judge A. E. White of Canby was in the city yesterday.

E. E. Coy of the Palouse railroad is at the St. Charles.

M. Gleason, who has been quite ill at St. Vincent's hospital, is now fast becoming convalescent.

Mrs. A. Noltner and children left the city yesterday for Polk county, where they will remain a few weeks rusticating.

J. P. Wager of Pendleton, editor of the East Oregonian, arrived down last night and leaves this morning for Salem.

Hon. Hiram A. Straight of Clackamas county left this city yesterday morning for a short tour of Washington territory and Sound ports.

Mr. Paul Shulze, general land agent of the Northern Pacific, leaves this morning for New York via the Northern. He will return about the 15th prox.

AMUSEMENTS.

Janauschek.—Within an hour after the box sheet for the Janauschek season opened yesterday, half the choice seats in the dress circle were sold for Saturday night. Madame Janauschek comes to us with the reputation of the greatest living tragedienne, and will be greeted with crowded houses.

The Minstrels.—Courtright & Hawkins' minstrels closed a very successful engagement last night, and leave this morning for the Sound.

THE CANNON TRIAL.

Testimony all In—Case to Go to the Jury this Morning.

Salem, June 27.—[Special.]—In the case of the State vs. Cannon, charged with attempted assassination of State Senator Voorhees, on trial in this city, the testimony has all been introduced and the arguments half completed. Tilmon Ford for the prosecution and N. B. Knight for the defense have already addressed the jury, and W. H. Holmes for the state and Ben Hayden for the defense will conclude the argument to-morrow. No new testimony of any importance has been introduced, and none compromising the character of Mrs. Voorhees, save some statements of Cannon himself, which have not been corroborated and therefore have no bearing in the case. The jury has been separated and the case will be given them to-morrow. The interest in the case has waned greatly since the failure on the part of the defense to corroborate statements made by the defendant.

THE REASON

Sellwood has grown constantly in public favor is because of the actual intrinsic value of the property. It is the best site in or out of Portland for the average man who expects to earn his daily bread through his own exertion to get a home. He saves rent, and a hundred other expenses. He gets a home of his own. He gets into a healthy and sightly locality. He has just as good school privileges as could be asked for; is in fifteen minutes' ride of the center of Portland; costs only 5 cents passage on the company's boat. He can work his ten hours in Portland if he likes and reach Sellwood in the evening before his luckless chum, who pays $20 per month house rent on Twelfth street, walks out home. That's the reason Sellwood property is selling so rapidly. Lots are sold on installments of $10 per month.

The attention of our readers is invited to the column advertisement of the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, which appears this morning. As an accident company the Travelers is the original in the United States and the largest in the world. Its premium receipts, in this department, for the past six months, amounts to the extraordinary sum of $1,000,000. Over 800,000 accident and over 28,000 life policies have been issued since the organization of the company. With about $7,000,000 of cash assets and nineteen years of success, the large annual business which is being done on the Pacific coast is not to be wondered at.

MAMMOTH RAILROAD EXCURSION.

As time progresses interest increases in the mammoth railroad excursion, which is to take place over the Oregon and California railroad on Sunday to Aurora. Excursionists will find every accommodation for their comfort, both on board and at Aurora. Mr. Peter Wilhelm is paying special attention to the matter of details to secure every convenience.

A very pleasant excursion is on the bills for Sunday next. The Young Men's Hebrew Association have chartered the steamer A. A. McCully and will sail up the Columbia to Washougal. A perfectly enjoyable time is anticipated. Tickets are to be had of any of the committee.

A GREAT SATISFACTION.

It is a great satisfaction when one enters a store to make a purchase to know that we are dealing with a man who never misrepresents. Such a man is S. Roberts, Portland's popular clothier, and we take pleasure in thus testifying to our appreciation of that fact.

MEETING.

[illegible] meeting of the Society of the First Congregational Church of [illegible] Tuesday evening, June [illegible], immediately after [illegible] report of the [illegible] for the church. All members are requested to attend.

We have the most [illegible] reports from our June excursionists, who feel that they were more than repaid by their trip to Alaska and return.

The excursionists for Alaska leave Portland June [illegible], all water, or via Victoria July 3.

WHEELER ACQUITTED.

"Not Guilty" was the Verdict of the Jury that Have Tried the Heart of the Man who Killed Fred. Swarz.

The circuit court convened yesterday at half past nine o'clock, and case of State of Oregon vs. Frank Wheeler, was resumed. The court directed that the counsel proceed with the argument.

Assistant attorney Mulkey opened the argument on behalf of the State. After quoting some law bearing upon the case he proceeded to say that he could not see that the killing of Schwarz by Wheeler was at all justifiable. He explained [illegible] the common law, that a man must be in immediate danger [illegible] before he is justified in taking the life of another [illegible].

[illegible] the jury [illegible] the defendant went [illegible] with a deadly weapon, [illegible] the speaker said that the fact [illegible] Mr. Mulkey [illegible] the defendant [illegible] It was an [illegible], exclaimed the speaker, [illegible] the jury [illegible] against the [illegible].

Mr. Hewitt, arguing in behalf of the defendant, first offered the court some quotations in contradiction to those quoted by Mulkey. He said that not a single court in the country ever held that a man must [illegible] before he can act in self defense.

Taking up the indictment he pointed to the [illegible] the word "maliciously," which should appear as a charge of murder in the second degree. [illegible] which Mr. Mulkey sought to establish [illegible] from the circumstances that there was no [illegible] felony which is [illegible] by common law to constitute murder in the second degree or murder. Turning to the jury the lawyer said that a human instinct [illegible] the death of Schwartz was the result of an accident and ought to figure in this case. The prisoner should not be punished for a crime which he did not commit. He then reviewed the testimony extracting whatever there was in favor of his client. The prosecuting witness James Smith was impeached on the ground that his name was not Smith, when in fact it was James Albert Raleigh. Discrepancies and contradictions were pointed out in Dan Owen's testimony. The speaker didn't think there were twelve men in Multnomah county who would convict Frank Wheeler on the testimony of a perjurer and a crank drunk. It is stated that Wheeler visited the theater for the purpose of assisting in keeping the bar and that the taking of the pistol was in keeping with his habit, having to close the saloon at night. Phalen was characterized as an infamous scoundrel, the cause of all the trouble that has befallen Wheeler and his family. The speaker showed how it was impossible for Wheeler to have shot Schwartz as he was unless he had been hit by the chair. The speaker closed with a few touching remarks upon the condition of the prisoner, his wife and child. Mr. Hewitt's argument was delivered in a plain, unimpassioned but forcible manner, and had visible weight with the jury.

The court at this point took the usual noon recess and will convene again this afternoon when Messrs. Caples and Williams will close the argument in the case.

The above occupied the entire morning session, and in the afternoon Richard Williams and John F. Caples made the closing speeches to the jury. These upon each side partook more of the oratorical than of the legal aspects of the case, the district attorney asking justice for the murdered man and Mr. Williams pleading for the life of his client. Shortly after 4 o'clock Judge Stott gave his charge to the jury and they retired for deliberation. About 6:30 the jury came back, having agreed upon a verdict of "not guilty."

STATE TEACHER'S ASSOCIATION.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

Salem, June 27.

The institute was called to order by State Superintendent McElroy.

Prof. Z. M. Parvin sang a solo, "The Wagon."

On motion of M. G. Lane of Salem the institute postponed permanent organization until this afternoon.

Prof. Frank Rigler of Polk county addressed the association on the subject, "The Present and Future of the Educational Work in Oregon." He contrasted the work in Oregon with that of other states; thought we possibly required too much of the pupil; rapid work means surface work. Emphasized the benefits derived from institutes; state should extend financial aid. There seems to be an apathy exhibited by teachers toward attending institutes; a few will always attend, yet decidedly the greater number cannot be persuaded to enter heartily into the work. In the bright future, where we expect to realize our fondest hopes, the speaker saw a brilliant standing for the Oregon schools. Following material advancement in Oregon, we will find the educational interests slow, steady, yet substantial and thorough.

Address by Prof. W. E. Yates of State Normal school, Monmouth, on the subject, "Is Knowledge Power?" Our ideal man is one who has the greatest mental and moral power. Food is not physical power, but is the means toward developing the same when properly used. So it is with the means of mental culture. Culture gives power. A well disciplined mind has a faculty for adapting means to ends that is incalculable. History proves that many of our greatest statesmen, who had a limited amount of school education, possessed minds so disciplined by possible outside circumstances that they were a power in the land. The speaker acknowledged the twofold division of education, but claimed that mental discipline was the greater of the two.

Piano solo by Miss Constance Jordan. Well executed.

Prof. W. S. Arnold, of Willamette University, introduced the subject of "Penmanship in Schools." He drew a pleasant picture of the schools of twenty-five years ago, with special reference to writing; wrote when we pleased, how we pleased and on what we pleased. He gave suggestions as to paper, ink and pens to be used, position of hand when writing and of body at the table. Illustrations were then given on the black-board of different styles of writing, etc. He recommended Spencer's system of writing, yet thought the long loops should be shortened.

"Room for One More," was pleasantly sung by Prof. Parvin.

A general discussion was had on the subject of "What methods of instruction will most successfully lead pupils to original investigation?"

Supt. Gregg of Marion county, opened the discussion: Thorough instruction should commence in the primary grades and be continued all through the higher grades; should so instruct as to make the child and youth to think. Too much of a disposition on the part of the teacher to only ask the questions given in text books. Would suggest giving pupils in classes topics and let them explain these topics in their own language. The pith of his remarks was to use every effort to teach the scholar to think.

Prof. M. G. Lane thought that this question ought also to teach the instructor to think. Teachers of to-day are far ahead those of ten or twenty years since; teacher must be a live man. He gave an illustration or two of former years.

Professor J. D. Hawes of East Portland thought that a thoroughly energetic teacher could not do otherwise than to lead the mind of his pupils into channels of thought.

Miss Alice Clawson of Portland public schools suggested that in answering questions the pupils be not required to give answers as stated in text books, especially in arithmetic. Let them be original; strike at the pith of the answer and give it in concise language.

Professor Arnold then occupied the floor for a few moments, when the institute adjourned until 1:30 P. M.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE DALLES.

[FROM OUR LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

The Dalles, Or., June 27.

Mrs. Capt. J. W. Troupe is visiting Mrs. Dr. Robinson.

Miss Hannah Fairfowl of Portland is a guest of Mrs. J. S. Schenck.

Hon. J. H. Slater, United States Senator for Oregon, was at the Cosmopolitan Monday.

T. E. Fisher has returned from a short stay in Portland. The Dalles is always a good haven to be in.

The winds that sweep through town these days would be more at home in the desert of Sahara. For scorchers they cannot be excelled.

Trout fishing on Mill and Chenoweth creeks has been indulged in quite extensively during the month. The latter stream seems to have the preference. Several are making up camping parties to stay weeks in the shade near Mount Hood.

Second and Court street square was turned into a horse-breaking ring Monday afternoon. Cayuses were lassoed, thrown down and their teeth examined, then rode and jammed up and down the streets. This was a lot of amusement for the Indians and hoodlums but quite a detriment to pedestrians.

This seems to be a poor market for wool. Very low prices are offered. The buying is slow. The difference in prices here and in Portland is a study. Enough wool is brought to town to make this a market. Business men are afraid to offer any figure to sheep men, however. The solid men do not like to speculate. Several wagon loads of wool arrive daily.

PORTLAND CAPITAL WANTED.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

It is truly remarkable that while there are numerous towns in Washington territory that claim to have a fair prospect of rivaling Portland, we have at the present time in this city representatives of property, to large amounts, in Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane Falls and other points, who want Portland capital to help out their ventures, all setting forth most flattering prospects of making money by investment in their respective properties. It is possible that there is no intentional misrepresentation on the part of any one of them. It is certain that lots and blocks generally present a very different appearance upon the face of mother earth to that exhibited upon an ornamental map. In view of the fact that Portland as a great commercial center is an established fact, whilst all other towns in the northwest are as yet only partially solved problems, it would be well for Portlanders whilst listening to the praises of outside places, however attractively set forth, to remember two good old proverbs, viz: "Look before you leap," and "Don't buy a pig in a poke."

REAL ESTATE.

Crop Prospects in Umatilla.

Pendleton East Oregonian.

The prospect in all the region east and north of Pendleton, in Umatilla county, is, if anything, brighter than represented a few days ago, although there has not been a drop of rain.

An East Oregonian representative has been traveling extensively among the wheat fields and the gratifying fact is that beyond a doubt there will be a bountiful harvest, notwithstanding the long continued dry weather. Contrary to what was supposed, the grain, as a rule, is not drying up or withering away. There will not be the yield that would have been obtained if plentiful rains had fallen a week or two ago, yet there will be a much larger yield per acre than last year and nearly as much per acre as the year before. One fact is especially encouraging to the farmers of Umatilla county, and that is that their grain shows a far better prospect for a good harvest than that of the Walla Walla valley or even the Willamette valley. The Willamette valley crops are mostly spring sown this year, so that it may not be a fair comparison to measure our crops with theirs, but it may be safely asserted that the fall sown grain of Umatilla county, even after suffering from the effects of the extended drought, will yield a far larger amount per acre than the best sections of the Willamette valley do, one year with another. Farmers who properly prepare their ground and plant their seed, need have no fear of failure in most parts of Umatilla county.

A NOTE FROM THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE.

Portland, Oregon, June 27.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

Will you kindly permit me to reply through your columns to an article in the Daily News of this date:

Shortly after the first issuance of the Daily News I learned that Mr. Cole complained that the Merchants' Exchange were "owned" by The Oregonian, and, therefore, the News couldn't secure its reports.

I assured Mr. Cole he was mistaken, that he would be placed on an equal footing with The Oregonian and would be furnished the same reports for the same price. He said he was glad to know [illegible] and would lay the matter before [illegible] meeting to be held that evening. [illegible] reply next day, when he [illegible] per month for the reports. This offer was declined. Mr. Cole has always stated he wanted our reports, but [illegible] price. A President Seeking American Capital to Develop the Resources of the Country

[illegible] Special. [illegible] Senor Don [illegible] Valenzuela has just arrived from [illegible] American [illegible] who is now in California [illegible] visit to the United States [illegible] endeavor to induce capital [illegible] the purpose chiefly of building an interoceanic railroad [illegible] Senor Valenzuela said Honduras is capable of being developed into a very important commercial country and certainly will be. It is only in the last year that the mineral products of the country have been recognized as valuable and now the mines are being worked with profit. There are about 100 placer mines in the country but only a few are being worked. Silver and gold he continued are the principal minerals while along the Ulua, Chamelicon, Biane and Comayagua rivers mahogany, cedar and pine grow in profusion and the export trade in these woods is enormous. It has only been recently that any attention has been paid to cotton, but we have discovered that the soil is adapted to its cultivation and in a few years Honduras will be a respectable cotton producing country.

RAILROADS WANTED

"The principal drawback to the country is the absence of railroads. There is only one railroad, running from Porto Cortez to San Pedro, a distance of ninety miles. This government has borrowed $15,000,000 from English capitalists to construct a road from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific ocean, a distance of 240 miles, and thus connect the Atlantic and the Pacific."

"Does Salo desire to secure American capital to complete the road, or is he going to Europe for the purpose?"

"He is in favor of getting capital from the United States, but if the Americans will not take charge of the enterprise it will be offered to Europeans. There are only about 240 miles to build and half of this distance can be made along the bank of the Comayagua river, which will necessitate the building of only one bridge. The country is flat and there are few difficulties in the way. President Salo is anxious for the completion of the road and will render any assistance and offer the most liberal inducements in the way of land grants, etc."

THE PRINCE OF WALES BROUGHT TO TASK

LONDON, June 27.—London sporting society has been greatly scandalized ever since Peck won the Orange cup at Ascot. It is said Peck felt so sorry to learn that the prince of Wales had lost heavily by betting against the winner that he tried to make amends for his own good luck by compensating his royal highness for his heavy losses in presenting the prince with a very valuable cup as a gift. To make matters worse it was alleged that the prince of Wales accepted the cup and had it sent home. The story became the talk of the town, and it became necessary for the prince's friends to make some explanation. This forthcame to-day and it has been given out that although his royal highness does at present possess the cup won on the turf by another man, Rykin, the successful rival in the successful race, he did not obtain it as a gift but paid for it with £600 hard cash. This explanation has made matters much worse, and there is some talk of having both Peck and the prince disciplined according to turf ethics, for dealing in prizes. The prince's friends claim that it was at first offered to him as a gift, and that he indignantly declined it, but that finding Peck was bent on securing some royal recognition in exchange for the prize he accepted it finally for the purpose of preventing it reaching a market, and subsequently sent Peck a check for the £600. The fact that Peck got the check cashed is a point of proof that the prince of Wales properly measured the winner of the cup.

PARNELL'S POSITION

DUBLIN, June 27.—Parnell in his speech at Monaghan in the interest of Healy's candidacy for commons, said his party intended to endeavor to amend the land act so as to make reduced rents date from the time of application therefor to the court; to provide that tenants shall be allowed for improvements made within thirty or forty years, and so that the lease holders shall be admitted to benefit of the act. The court of appeals on the occasion of an important testimony, Chaine vs. Nelson, on which 40,000 other cases depend, held that new rents became payable from the first gale day after the act was passed and not from the day when they were fixed by the commissioners.

THE POPE'S LETTER TO GREVY

LONDON, June 27.—The Times' correspondent at Paris says the pope's letter to President Grevy regarding church affairs in France, complains of the expulsion of various orders, the suspension of salaries of curates in the army, the bill which militates against the supplying of priests, and arbitrary changes proposed before the commission, thus rendering the church unable to defend its right against usurpations of state. President Grevy's reply will be conciliatory.

THE PAUPER QUESTION

LONDON, June 27.—In the commons to-day Joseph [illegible], radical, gave notice that he would submit the question whether it was true that Irish paupers had been sent to America with the knowledge and consent of the government.

IRELAND

SIGNS OF A BETTER FUTURE FOR IRELAND

DUBLIN, June 27.—The lord lieutenant, speaking at Limerick, said he saw signs of a better future for Ireland. He advocated technical training, leading to an improved style of farming, before the people entered upon the task of reclaiming waste lands. He mentioned that the land act worked well, and asked all classes to co-operate for the material advancement of Ireland.

POVERTY ON THE INCREASE

DUBLIN, June 27.—The chairman of the Loughrea union declares that he never knew the out door relief list to be so high as now, and this necessitates an increase of the relieving staff.

RUSSIA.

AN UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE VATICAN

ST PETERSBURG, June 27.—In the arrangements between Russia and the Vatican the government retains the right of inspecting seminaries, and the curia has recognized the right of the government to exercise control over the education of Catholic children in the Russian language, literature and history, and the appointments of teachers will be first submitted for the approval of the government. In regard to the instruction in canonical branches the rights of bishops are to remain untouched, and power is restored to the bishops of removing clergymen. The government intend to abrogate exceptional measures against Catholics issued in 1864.

FRANCE.

NO HOPE FOR LOUISE MICHEL.

PARIS, June 27.—It is reported that President Grevy refused the request of the radicals in the chamber of deputies to commute the sentence of Louise Michel to exile.

EGYPT.

PANIC OVER THE CHOLERA

ALEXANDRIA, June 27.—The panic over cholera in Egypt is increasing, and the flight of Europeans continues. A commission has been formed to devise means to protect Alexandria from the malady. The festivals usually held on the anniversary of the Khedive's accession to the throne will be stopped. All ministers have been recalled to Cairo.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 27.—Strict quarantine has been ordered at all Turkish ports against vessels from Egypt.

CANADA.

CANADIAN INDEPENDENCE A DEAD ISSUE

MONTREAL, June 27.—[Special.]—In an interview with Sir Alexander Galt, ex high commissioner to London, who has just returned with a view of entering the dominion cabinet, he said: The right of Canada to make her own commercial treaties has been practically conceded by England. The modus operandi was that the representatives of Canada should be associated with the British ministry, and that the proposed terms be submitted for approval by the British government. He thought that the governor general would be always appointed by the British government, as there was no demand here for a choice. The independence question is not only a dead issue, he remarked, but in fact never had life, the relations between Britain and her colonies being drawn closer than ever.

HANLAN AT HOME

TORONTO, June 27.—Harl and Hanlan have returned from Pullman. When asked as to the truth of the rumor that he was going to Chicago, Hanlan said he was seriously contemplating removing.

In the case of John Justice of Jackson county, charged with the murder of his father, [illegible] Attorney Kent and L R Webster appeared for the prosecution and J R Neil and [illegible] Dowell appeared for the defense. The trial lasted several days and ended on Tuesday with a verdict of murder in the first degree. The quarrel in which the father was slain by the son grew out of the intimacy of the son with a Canton woman. The tragedy took place last March.

Jacksonville Times: Owing to the continued warm weather and absence of rain, grain will not generally turn out as well as expected. Had the past season proved a favorable one the yield would have been enormous. As it is there will not be an average crop, though the increased acreage will go far toward making up any deficiency. A large amount of hay is being put up, many cutting their late sown grain rather than take chances of its not filling. Rain may yet do some good, and cool weather would be especially acceptable to the farmers.

A boy aged about 7 years was missed at Texas Ferry one week ago. When last seen alive he was on a raft in a slough. Last Sunday parties crossed the slough on the same raft. The next morning the body of the boy was found on the raft horribly mangled and decayed. It was thought that the flesh had been eaten away and the bones broken and crushed by the coyotes. How and when the body was put on the raft is a mystery. It would seem almost impossible that coyotes could drag it up on the raft, and yet had it been on the raft the parties crossing would certainly have seen it.

Colfax Gazette: The proprietor of the new town of Viola on Fourmile, situated about 12 miles east of Colfax, sold 100 lots in that flourishing embryo city in three days. One year ago there was not a business house in the place; to-day it supports two general merchandise stores, two blacksmith shops, a planing mill, two hotels, one a two-story building, the other a three-story with mansard roof, two saloons, a livery stable, besides numerous other business enterprises contemplated. Lumber has been ordered for the erection of a drug store; a saw mill within three and a half miles of the place loads over thirty teams per day; a first class shingle mill is situated near by, and liberal inducements will be extended to any person who will erect a steam flouring mill in the place.

Idaho

At Camp McDermitt the 21st inst Private Hemstreet of Company K, 8th infantry, while marking at target practice, was accidentally shot in the abdomen and died on the afternoon of that day. He was 21 years old and a native of Troy, N Y.

THE EAST SIDE.

A GOOD GUARANTY

The Gutta Percha and Rubber Manufacturing Company of Portland gave the following special guaranty with the 1000 feet of hose recently purchased by this city: "We hereby guarantee the 1000 feet of two and one-half inch four ply with five ply capped ends, 'Maltese Cross' brand carbolized fire hose, sold to the city of East Portland, to stand a water pressure of 300 pounds to the square inch. We also guarantee that should any length of said hose burst or give out in any manner, except from being cut, burnt, or otherwise accidentally injured through no fault of ours, during the period of four years, we will replace the same free of charge on return of the defective lengths. We further guarantee that during that period the hose shall remain unaffected by mildew, rot or organic decay."

NOTES.

The new council meets to-night.

F R Beale is confined to his home with a bilious attack.

The Episcopal Sunday school excursion yesterday to Falls City park was well attended and enjoyable throughout.

People arriving in town from the country are loaded with as much real estate as they can conveniently carry.

E J Sommerville, agent of the Umatilla reservation, is visiting his brother in this city and will remain one week.

On account of the high water further time will be asked by the contractor for the elevated roadway on Third street, between L and J.

Meer & La Romer, architects, are preparing plans and specifications for the new school building to be erected at Albina in district No 31.

The patriotic small boy has already commenced his fire cracker celebration of the Fourth, and the prospects for runaway items are good.

The board of school directors met last evening but merely attended to some unfinished business, the particulars of which have been published.

The charter of Phalanx lodge, K of P, of this city, recently received, has been on exhibition, neatly framed, for the past few days in Gilliland's picture store.

Zellar, Stokes & Co have received the contract for the completion of the rooms in the new wing of the Central school building at $83. Other bids were as follows: O B DeBurgh, $1191; W L Good[illegible]win, $986; J M Adams, $975.

ALBANY NOTES

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, June 2[illegible]

Mr Edward Farrington and wife (nee Miss Bessie Peyton) are visiting friends and relatives in this city.

The state capitol building is to-day fairly overrun with pretty schoolma'ams and their attendant friends and admirers.

Mrs Sarah Odell, mother of General W H Odell, is lying very ill at her residence near Dayton in Yamhill county.

Miss Julia Chamberlin of this city has been offered the position of teacher of music and German at the La Creole academy at Dallas. She is a graduate in these branches of the Willamette university and her numerous friends are well pleased at this evident appreciation of her worth.

Great interest is manifested in the case of the state vs Cannon, charged with the attempted assassination of State Senator Voorhees, now on trial before Judge Boise in this city. The following jury has been empaneled: M Mead, J H Hewitt, J C Griffith, Emanuel Wolf, Jacob Bear, O E Geraline, James Stanley, John Campbell, Isaac Nelson, Abner Lewis, J H Hewitt and James Simpson.

The following well known firemen will compose the hose team of Capital Engine Co No [illegible] on the occasion of its visit to Albany on the coming Fourth to compete for the prize offered by the citizens of that place: Tillmon Howard, Fireman George H Burnett, Dan [illegible], M Starr, Dan J Humphreys, Isaac Hewitt, Dr [illegible], Ben Moores, Charles [illegible]ley, Harvey Jordan, R D Patton and A [illegible]. The team is a fine, fast one, is very popular and will make it lively for their competitors.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

The Raging Missouri

ATCHISON, Kas., June 27.—The river is on a stand. The rise to-day was barely perceptible. The Kaw and Nemaha are falling. The Atchison and Nebraska road has not sent out a regular train for ten days. It has suffered such damage that trains are not likely to run for a week or two to come. The St Joe and Western is almost entirely destroyed for a distance of sixty or seventy miles. Hardly a single bridge or embankment is left. It is doubtful if it is in running order for two weeks. Estimated damage to all roads centering in this city reaches half a million. The river is within six feet of the high water of [illegible]. A further rise of two feet would destroy splendid harvests on the Missouri bottom lands.

Outlaws in Dakota

BISMARCK, Dak., June 26.—A special from Little Missouri says: For some time past the life of the Marquis DeMores has been threatened by Frank O'Donnell and a large gang of outlaws. On Monday at 3 o'clock A M O'Donnell and his gang rode into town and began firing into windows of the hotel and other buildings. Several persons narrowly escaped the bullets. The sheriff of Morton county with a posse of citizens to-day pursued the outlaws, overtaking them about a mile from the railroad. Riley, one of the outlaws, was killed in the melee, and O'Donnell and the others captured after a hard fight. Threats of lynching the prisoners caused the greatest excitement. The marquis occupies much land for a sheep and cattle ranch.

Pigeon-Shooting.

CINCINNATI, June 26.—The shooting tournament had a fine day and fair attendance. First match, class shooting, ten single clay birds, forty-eight yards rise: Stock took the first money; second money was divided between Meaders, Kimball and Tieff.

Second match, ladies, five birds, twenty-one yards rise: First money tied by twelve, second tied by nine and again by seven, who divided as follows: Meaders, Stock, Kimball, Gretner, Bogge, Wicks, Vessier and Mason.

Third match, class shooting, ten single clay birds, twenty-six yards rise: Mason took first money; Meaders, Kimball and Dubray divided second money, and Lokert and Mattson third money.

Harvard University.

BOSTON, June 27.—The graduating class in Harvard to-day numbers 219, the largest in the history of the college. Necrology of alumni for the past year is 917. It is reported that every member of the class of '83 will receive the degree of A B if the term bill is paid. Another report is that parchments will not be given to graduates, but only certificates, which may be exchanged for diplomas after commencement night, provided the holder has not been apprehended as a party to the disturbance usual on that occasion. Seniors voted almost unanimously not to accept these certificates should they be offered.

Still on the Gridiron

CONCORD, N H, June 26.—There was a conference of fifty-seven Rollins men to-night, but no action was taken and no change worthy of note in the situation. A paper is being circulated among the Rollins men pledging their support to the nominee of the caucus until he withdraws or a majority of the signers shall determine otherwise. A convention will be called for this purpose. It will receive numerous signatures to-night. It is expected that most of Rollins' supporters will sign.

Still Celebrating

PEEKSKILL, N Y, June 26.—The celebration of Beecher's birthday was continued at his country house this evening with much enthusiasm. A band gave a serenade on the lawn in front of his house. His sisters, Mrs Stowe and Mrs Perkins, were present on the piazza, as were many of his neighbors and friends.

FOREIGN NEWS

VARIOUS FOREIGN NOTES.

LONDON, June 27.—The last batch of emigrants from Swinford union, 100 in number, have gone to Queenstown for shipment to the United States. It is said most of them have been in the workhouse.

Peter Carey and family have left Ireland; present whereabouts and destination unknown. James Carey is also going to leave or has already left. It is arranged to send two of the principal informers to Manitoba.

Sir Henry Halford and Walker await the American rifle team at Queenstown.

Baron Goltz, commander of the German squadron in Chinese waters, will proceed to his post by way of the United States.

GERMAN AFFAIRS

BERLIN, June 26.—Bismarck is much better. He will go to Kissengen in about a week. Von Bennigsen, who recently resigned from the landtag and reichstag, has written the liberal committee that he retired because of the increasing party bitterness. He thinks dissensions among liberals can only tend to produce confusion. Nothing, he says, is more dangerous to the empire than displays of opposition to [illegible] prerogative.
